Gov. Shivers Orders Steps To Keep Peace

MANSFIELD, Tex., Aug. 31 (AP)—A mob broke out of control today and roughed up photographers and an assistant district attorney as Mansfield residents kept their vow to bar Negroes from their high school.

While the mob action was at its highest, the U. S. 5th District Court of Appeals turned down a plea by the school board's attorney for a postponement of desegregation until next year. An appeal to the Supreme Court is expected.

There were these other rapid-fire developments:
Gov. Allan Shivers ordered Texas Rangers to cooperate with local officers and "to arrest anyone, white or colored, whose actions are such as to represent a threat to the peace at Mansfield."

Turned Down
An attorney for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People sought to register three Negro students by telegram, but the school superintendent, saying he was acting on attorney's advice, rejected such registration.

L. Clifford Davis, Fort Worth Negro attorney representing the NAACP, who carried the whole through the court, wired U. S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell today, relating what was happening, and asking for federal help.

The school will not open again until next Tuesday.

Trouble started yesterday, first day of registration for the fall term. A mob ranging up to 300 persons appeared at the school but no violence occurred.

Threat of Peace

Some members threatened to use guns if officers sought to take Negroes into the school.

Today, the mob started gathering by 7 a. m., an hour before registration time, and zoomed to 400 by midmorning.

This was the day Negroes would have registered, because the 12 involved live outside the city limits and this was rural registration day. No Negroes appeared either day, and they were noticeably absent from Mansfield streets.

Violence broke out when Asst. Dist. Atty. Grady Hight, a county official, walked toward the school building. Owen Metcalfe, a laborer who was given leadership of the mob by consent, said he understood, second-hand, that Hight made a remark to the effect that the demonstration was "silly."

Almost instantaneously, the mob swirled and packed around Hight. The men shouted at and cursed him. When he tried to break away, the mob began shoving him.

Farm Prices Show Drop

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 (AP)—Prices received by farmers for their products declined three per cent between mid-July and mid-August, the Agriculture Department reported today.

The rise or fall of farm prices is a major political factor in this election year.

The sharp decline followed a one per cent drop between mid-June and mid-July, which reversed an upward trend for the preceding six months.

Between mid-December and mid-June, farmers' prices increased 11 per cent and now have lost 4 per cent of that gain.

The Agriculture Department said sharply lower prices received by farmers for potatoes and commercial vegetables coupled with a moderate decline in average prices received for cotton, fruit and poultry, were responsible for the decline during the month ended Aug. 15.

Stevenson Invites Walter To Party Strategy Talks

REP. FRANCIS E. Walter has been invited by Adlai E. Stevenson to attend a regional Democratic strategy meeting on Sept. 12 in New York.

Gov. Averell Harriman will preside at the meeting. Walter's office in Easton said last night that the Congressman expects to attend the conference.

According to Walter's office Stevenson "extended an invitation to discuss campaign strategy and mobilize winning forces for November." The regional meeting will be held in the Biltmore Hotel in New York City.

It will mark the first time that Stevenson, Walter and Harriman have had a chance to sit down and map out a mutual blueprint for the coming campaign. The three men were split on opposite sides of the fence during the convention.

Harriman and Stevenson were after the Democratic nomination. Walter announced his support of Harriman before the convention; stuck with his announced decision straight through.

Stevenson was asked whether or not President Eisenhower had offered to supply international intelligence reports to him as President Truman did to him and his opponent, then Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, in the 1952 campaign.

Stevenson replied, "No, he has not." Stevenson said he would welcome such an offer very much.

Questioned about the Suez Canal situation, Stevenson said he is "not familiar with the course of the current diplomatic negotiations," but that he felt that free use of the canal is "imperative."

"I hope Nasser doesn't let his nationalism do injury to the economic improvement of the Egyptian people," he said, referring to the Egyptian President.

On the civil rights front, he and Sen. Estes Kefauver, his vice presidential running mate, were asked if they thought the rioting at Clinton over the school integration order, would be "embarrassing" to their campaign.

Stevenson said he thought the case at Clinton will be worked out calmly and that integration will work out without major disorder.

Kefauver observed that a Federal District Court had ordered integration in Clinton and that he himself had talked with quite a number of people in the area yesterday who felt that it "will be worked out."

Stevenson opened his news conference by reading a statement asserting that his "most exciting discovery" in a tour of the country this week is that "the people are not swallowing the Republican complacency line."

Primary Issue
He declared that "our lopsided prosperity is a primary issue of this campaign."

He referred to serious unemployment in such diverse places as northern New Mexico, southern Illinois and Detroit, and what he said was fear among the people that "the farm depression may spread."

Stevenson said former President Harry S. Truman, who fought his nomination at the Democratic National Convention, will participate in the Democratic campaign "and actively," but that he didn't have the details since they are being worked out by the national committee.

Segregation Exponent Is Imprisoned
CLINTON, Tenn., Aug. 31 (AP)—An outsider accused of stirring up racial strife at integrated Clinton High School this week was adjudged in contempt of federal court today and sentenced to one year in prison.

John Kasper, 26-year-old Washington, D. C., segregation exponent, was found guilty at Knoxville of violating an order by U. S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor prohibiting him and others from interfering with integration of Clinton High.

The school is the first state-supported secondary school in Tennessee to open its doors to mixed classes. Urged on by Kasper, milling throngs have erupted into minor violence during the past two days.

Meanwhile, Clinton High ended its first week of integration in a quiet but tense atmosphere.

There were no disorders and no picketing of the school for the first time since it opened Monday with 12 Negro and 800 white pupils in attendance.

Red China's shore than the craft's last reported position, which it said was 38 miles from the "nearest land held by the Chinese Communists."

This points up the possibility of a navigation error, the statement said.

Errors Possible
It added that the "possibility cannot be excluded" that such errors might have caused the plane to fly over or near one of the many small islands extending as far as 37 miles east of the China mainland.

The departments said that a Red Chinese note, relayed through British diplomatic channels, contended that a plane which its fighter pilots shot down on the same day the American aircraft was attacked had violated Chinese territory.

A full search is continued for other bodies, the statement said. In fact, it added, small vessels are en route to the area, southeast of Shanghai, to augment the search force.

'Wartime Secrecy' Cloaks Red A-Tests, Ike Charges

Adlai Invites Ike To Supply Secret Data

CHICAGO, Aug. 31 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson said today he would welcome an offer by President Eisenhower to supply him with secret intelligence reports during the campaign.

The Democratic presidential nominee made that statement at a news conference after concluding his fifth regional conference with party leaders at the Sheraton-Blackstone Hotel.

At the same conference Stevenson said he deplored, not only as a Democrat, but as "an American," the rioting at Clinton, Tenn., growing out of a court order to admit Negroes to a white high school there.

Stevenson was asked whether or not President Eisenhower had offered to supply international intelligence reports to him as President Truman did to him and his opponent, then Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, in the 1952 campaign.

Stevenson replied, "No, he has not." Stevenson said he would welcome such an offer very much.

New, Different Weapon Claimed

MOSCOW, Aug. 31 (AP)—The Russians announced today they have detonated a new and different nuclear weapon "applicable to the arming of various kinds of troops."

This device was reported set off yesterday in the second of tests started Aug. 24 "to perfect nuclear weapons."

The Moscow radio, indicating the Russians are working on a tactical nuclear weapon, said: "New tests of nuclear weapons were made in the Soviet Union on Aug. 24 and Aug. 30."

"These tests and impending ones aim at perfecting nuclear weapons and developing new types which could be used for equipment by various arms of the services."

Scouted by Ike
It is unprecedented for the Soviet Union to volunteer information of this kind. The belief here was that the Russians wanted to make the announcement of the second test before the United States reported it. Thirteen previous nuclear blasts in the Soviet Union were first announced by the United States.

But Moscow seemed behind on this, too. President Eisenhower announced at his morning news conference in Washington the Russians had touched off still another atomic explosion. He said this was more powerful than the test a week ago, which had the force of almost a million tons of TNT. London monitors picked up a Moscow broadcast announcement about 90 minutes later.

This reporter was in western and central Siberia during the tests and his plane was frequently grounded without explanation. At every airfield jet bombers and fighters were taking off and landing in split-second formation, an indication of large-scale air maneuvers.

Great Height
The official government news agency Tass said the explosions were touched off "at great height" to reduce danger from radioactive fallout.

Continued testing of atomic devices by the United States and Britain, it said, compels the Soviet Union to do likewise.

The announcement that the Russian's new device is "applicable to the arming of various kinds of troops" seemed to imply an effort to harness nuclear power for tactical use by ground and air forces as well as for strategic bombing.

The United States has developed atomic artillery and rocket squadrons armed with atomic warheads.

PUC Approves Rail Fare Hike
NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 31 (AP)—The Public Utility Commission today granted 10 railroads, including the Lackawanna, permission to increase basic passenger fares in intrastate travel effective tomorrow.

The increase amounts to five per cent on all tickets of one dollar and over. The hike on tickets of less than one dollar is five cents.

The higher fares are similar to those granted the roads by the Interstate Commerce Commission for interstate travel last spring.

Ten-trip ticket buyers are affected by the price jump but weekly and monthly commuter tickets are unaffected.

Track Meet Turns Into Name-Calling Feud When Soviet Girl Athlete Shoplifts Hats

LONDON, Aug. 31 (AP)—A goodwill track meet between Russia and Britain blew up into an international name-calling dispute today, all over five women's hats worth a total of $4.60.

A shoplifting charge against a hefty red-haired discus thrower, Nina Ponomareva, 27, led the whole Russian team—60 strong—to withdraw from the meet. It was to have begun tonight and lasted through tomorrow.

Nina, who won an Olympic gold medal in 1952, has vanished. The Russians said the charge against her had been nothing but "a dirty provocation." The objective, they said, "was to slander this world-famous sportsman in such a way intentionally to prevent her from taking part in the match."

A British spokesman countered that the Russians "do not seem to understand that the process of the law in this country cannot be subject to political pressure."

British athletic officials, who had expected 40,000 persons to attend the meet, started mailing out ticket refunds. The missing Nina forfeited $14 bail by not showing up in court yesterday.

Arrested By Detective
The incident began Wednesday when Nina, who weighs 168 and has hurled the discus 185 feet 9½ inches, went shopping at a bargain-rate women's store. She was arrested by a woman detective after leaving the shop.

A Soviet Embassy official put up Nina's bail and she promised to show up in court yesterday. But instead of her appearing in court, the Russian charge d'affaires, Aleksander Roschin, turned up at the Foreign Office.

Roschin twice saw Lord Reading, minister of state for foreign affairs, and demanded that the charges be dropped. At the second meeting he said the Russians would call off the meet and go home at once and that nothing except a withdrawal of the charges could change the decision.

Lord Reading, according to a Foreign Office statement, said he was sorry the Russians were determined to withdraw. But he explained that in Britain the government has no power to order a magistrate to cancel charges.

Eight hours before the meet, which was to have provided both teams a warmup for the Olympic games in November, Roschin gave up. So did the Russian team.

Konstantin Krupin, leader of the Soviet team, said: "For the feeling of solidarity, and as a sign of protest against this dirty provocation framed against Nina, the Soviet athletic delegation refuses to take part in this match and is returning to the U.S.S.R."

President Eisenhower

Huge Bomb Set Off By Soviet Union

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today Russia has detonated another nuclear bomb "in wartime secrecy" while Soviet diplomats talk publicly of abolishing atomic war.

His comment came at the start of a news conference in which the President broke the news of the test blast yesterday in southwest Siberia. He said it had greater destructive force than last Friday's detonation, which he also announced to the world.

About an hour and a half later, Moscow radio reported both tests. It said they were held to "evolve new types" of nuclear weapons for the arming of troop formations.

No Change in Plans
Eisenhower had rated the first bomb as having the destructive might of almost a million tons of TNT. The force of second blast remains to be measured, he said today.

He told questioners his announcement did not mean any change in this government's defense plans or military spending. He said:

"We have to go on the assumption that the ultimate intentions of the Russians have not changed, and as the first element of securing and maintaining the peace in the world, we maintain our own security."

With caustic emphasis he said in his opening announcement: "It is notable that although Soviet diplomats throughout the world talk about the possibility of plans for abolishing the atom weapon from the arsenals of the world, they go right ahead without prior announcement and with wartime secrecy, their scientists and soldiers do, in testing these weapons."

Politics Sidetracked
Moscow radio undertook to pin the responsibility on this country. Because the United States does not support the outlawing of atomic weapons, it said, Russia "is forced, guided by the interests of its security, to pay due attention to nuclear weapon tests."

The cold war and the Suez crisis dominated the hot and crowded conference. Politics took a back seat, though this was Eisenhower's first question-and-answer bout with reporters since he was renominated at San Francisco last week.

Eisenhower helped to deflate political talk by stating emphatically that he will do no "barnstorming" or "whistle-stopping" in the campaign, though he may leave Washington for "significant" speeches at times and places not yet fixed.

Further, he told another questioner, he does not intend to live up the Republican campaign, as some have suggested he should do, by indulging in "petty name-calling."

But he will make certain, he went on, that the record of his administration "is made forcefully clear to the American people, and: 'I am going to show what we are trying to do in the future, and to let the record, and the way we have attempted to carry out every promise we have ever made, be the earnest of what we intend to do and how we intend to do it in the future.'"

Suez Dispute
He spoke of politics only after turning to the healing of an international sore spot—yesterday's objection by Egyptian President Nasser. Nasser objected formally to Eisenhower's statement in which he said the Suez Canal was "internationalized by treaty in 1888."

The President said his insistence on safeguarding the rights of all countries to use Suez under treaty does not mean any challenge to (Please Turn to Page Ten)

U. S. Demands Red China Pay Damages For Plane

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 (AP)—The United States tonight accused Red China of making an "unjustified" attack on a U. S. Navy patrol plane shot down last week of the China coast. It demanded compensation for the loss of the plane and its 16 crewmen.

A joint statement by the State and Defense Departments said available evidence indicates "the attack was made without warning; that it was unjustified; and that the responsibility . . . lies with the Chinese Communist regime."

The statement said wreckage of the plane recovered during a continuing air-sea search gave evidence "that the actual attack took place over international waters."

But it also noted that the wreckage was found at a spot closer to

Red China's shore than the craft's last reported position, which it said was 38 miles from the "nearest land held by the Chinese Communists."

This points up the possibility of a navigation error, the statement said.

Errors Possible
It added that the "possibility cannot be excluded" that such errors might have caused the plane to fly over or near one of the many small islands extending as far as 37 miles east of the China mainland.

The departments said that a Red Chinese note, relayed through British diplomatic channels, contended that a plane which its fighter pilots shot down on the same day the American aircraft was attacked had violated Chinese territory.

A full search is continued for other bodies, the statement said. In fact, it added, small vessels are en route to the area, southeast of Shanghai, to augment the search force.

There can be no doubt, the statement said, that this was the Navy patrol craft and not a Chinese Nationalist plane, as the Reds claimed.

It said the Communist note reported that none of the crewmen of the downed aircraft had been captured.

Bodies of two of the crew have been recovered by search vessels. They have been identified as a Navy enlisted man, Albert P. Mattin of Delta, Ohio, and Lt. Cmdr. James William Ponsford, Long Beach, Calif.

A full search is continued for other bodies, the statement said. In fact, it added, small vessels are en route to the area, southeast of Shanghai, to augment the search force.

Sunday School Lesson

Christ Teaches Us the Ideal Way to Act in Our Relations With Others
Scripture—Luke 6:27-31; 10:30-37; James 2

By Newman Campbell

WE BEGIN this lesson with Christ's words telling us the ideal way to conduct ourselves in our relations with others. Here are His words: "Love your enemies, do good to them that hate you, bless them that curse you, and pray for them that despitefully use you."

Jesus did that. Even when suffering on the cross He asked His Father in heaven to forgive those who were torturing Him.

If we are struck, we should not strike back; if our cloak is taken, we should give freely to them in need, expecting no return. Most of us have never suffered by being struck in anger or by having our clothes taken from us, but there are thousands in various parts of the world who have.

What to do? Jesus said to love them, bless and pray for them. Only a person who is indwelt by Christ's spirit could do that, but all can try.

A lawyer who was trying to tempt Jesus by asking Him what he should do to inherit eternal life, being told that he should love his neighbor as himself, asked, "And who is my neighbor?" Then Jesus told the story of the man who was beaten and robbed of all his possessions on his way from Jerusalem to Jericho, and left to die.

No matter how many times we have read or heard this story we love to hear it again and again, as children love the stories read or told to them when they are young, which we all remember fondly when we grow older.

A priest came by, saw the suffering man, but instead of going to his aid, he averted his eyes, crossed the street and passed by. A Levite did the same, but a Samaritan (despised by Jews), went to the man, who probably was a Jew, poured soothing oil and wine into his wounds, then bound them up, hoisted him onto his own beast and took him to the nearest inn where he could receive care. Going still further, the Samaritan gave the inn keeper money, telling him if more was needed, he would give it when he came that way again.

Who in this case proved to be a neighbor to this man in need? "He that showed mercy on him," answered the lawyer. Jesus answered, "Go and do thou likewise."

I have always wondered if the lawyer took Christ's lesson to heart or if he disliked Jesus making a Samaritan the hero of His story.

It might be asked of pupils of all ages if they have ever seen an injured person and how did they act if they did. Did they stand and stare? Did they run away fast for fear they would become ill or become involved? Or did they, if older and possessing of some knowledge of first aid, to what they could to minister aid to the injured person?

What would Jesus have done? He would have healed the wound, but as we could not do that, if we acted in His spirit we would do what we could to help, even if the injured one was someone we might have hated.

James reminds us that God our Father is no respecter of persons. A rich man dressed well and a poor man poorly clothed might come into the synagogue or into any public place, and the rich man might be given a good seat in the synagogue and the poor man be left to stand. Why do people favor the well-to-do and often give shabby treatment to the poor?

"Hearken, my beloved brethren, Hath not God chosen the poor of this world rich in faith, and heirs of the kingdom which He hath promised to them that love Him?"

"If we fulfill the royal law according to the scripture, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself, ye do well."

Memory Verse—"As ye would that men should do unto you, do ye also to them likewise."—Luke 6:31.

Blessing Of Automobiles To Take Place Tomorrow Afternoon At Brodheadville

BRODHEADSVILLE—A special service will be conducted tomorrow at 3 p.m. at Our Lady Queen of Peace Church to bless automobiles of parishioners and other residents of the community.

Rev. Robert Galligan said the blessing of automobiles has as its purpose to beg God's protection on all passengers. The need for this blessing, he said, is keenly felt because of the number of accidents on the highways.

A small statue of Our Lady of the Highways will be presented to each automobile owner at his service. The statue is to be placed on the dashboard as a constant reminder of God's interest in the passengers' safety. Father Galligan said.

This is one of the first if not the first service of this nature ever held in the county, the pastor said.

Philadelphia Man To Speak

DEL. WATER GAP—Because of the absence of Rev. Luther Martin, pastor, the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church will be occupied Sunday morning by Rev. Robert E. Kieffer, who some years ago served the Cherry Valley Methodist group of churches.

Mr. Kieffer and his family are at their summer home in Cherry Valley. The choir, back from their vacations, will sing an anthem under direction of Clarence Seaman. It features a solo part by Alexander Bensinger.

Mr. Kieffer's sermon topic is "Follow the Leader." He serves the Summerfield Methodist Church in Philadelphia.

Instructor To Sing In Grace Church

MISS DAWN Peechatka of Scotrun, music supervisor of the Coatesville Schools will be guest soloist at the 8:30 a.m. service in Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg, tomorrow morning. Miss Peechatka was graduated from Mansfield State Teachers College three years ago and was in charge of music in the Sayre Schools last year.

Rev. William F. Wunder will deliver the morning message on "The Scriptural Implications of Labor Day." Flowers will be placed in memory of David Coffman by his wife and family, of Mount Pocono. Bulletins will be presented by Mrs. Claude Schaller and Mrs. Floyd Getz in memory of their mother, Mrs. Thomas Staples.

Howard O. Smith, Howard G. Smith, Irvin Smith and Douglas Townsend will serve as ushers and Scouts Brian Morris, Robert Boehler and John Baird will be acolytes. Church School will be held at 9:45 a.m.

Vesper service will be held in St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Smithfield, Craig Meadows, on Sunday night at 8 with Pastor Wunder in charge. Sunday School will be held at 10 a.m.

THE PARABLE

herefore speak I to them in parables: because they seeing see not; and hearing they hear not, neither do they understand.

(St. Matthew 13:13)

THE PARABLE is the basis of all religious education. From infancy through adult life we learn spiritual truths only as they are interpreted for us in terms of every-day experience.

OUR CHURCHES follow the example of the Greatest Teacher. Simple precepts or more complex doctrines are brought to us in vivid illustration. Lessons, sermons, hymns—even church architecture and ritual—are full of human narrative, word pictures or traditional symbolism to help us grasp and apply God's truth.

SPIRITUAL MATURITY must come to us through the effective teaching and practical guidance our churches provide. Our souls cannot grow simply by seeing a church on the corner, or hearing folks talk about religion. Worshipping and learning every Sunday, we will understand Christian truth in living terms and use our understanding to serve God and man.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship.
It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Holiday Traffic Presents Danger; Drive Carefully, Come Back Alive

Will you reach a "dead end" over the long Labor Day holiday?

We hope not. But an estimated 480 persons, by National Safety Council estimates, will lose their lives on the nation's highway between now and Tuesday morning.

You can contribute to the heavy traffic toll by your own negligence, disregard for the rights of others or by flaunting the common sense rules laid down in the motor code.

On the other hand, you can help avoid bringing injury or death to yourself and others by driving carefully, showing other motorists and pedestrians the courtesy and consideration you would have them show you, obeying all traffic laws in letter and spirit, and by celebrating if you want, but if you do it with alcoholic drinks, don't drive.

Highways will be more crowded than ever before in history, as the three-day holiday traffic is made far heavier than normal by homeward-bound vacationists.

Federal and state leaders are calling upon every person who takes to the highways on this last holiday of the Summer to be alert and drive with extra caution. Gov. George M. Leader urged all motorists to "please allow yourself plenty of time, so that you will arrive safely and return home safely."

"Your car can do practically everything except think," the governor said. "That's up to each and every driver."

Don't become a holiday casualty statistic. Drive with care—and the odds are heavily in your favor against reaching a "dead end."

It's Not Too Early To Start Planning For Impact Of National Road Program

It's not too early, says the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, for each community to start doing some homework on the local impact of the new national highway program.

Since the Pocono Mountains will figure prominently in the road-building, the suggestion is a good one from our own local standpoint.

While in one sense the program is national, its greatest impact will be local—i.e. population centers will be most affected.

Of course, new or improved highways will bring a host of benefits. But there also will be many problems, which, the Chamber points out, will rest with communities. Here are a few:

Central cities will feel an increased pull from the suburbs. Suburban communities will find themselves faced with new and even staggering requirements for sewer and water facilities, schools, streets and parking facilities.

Expansion of all municipal services may be needed—fire and police protection, trash collection, public health.

Slum clearance programs may have to be drastically altered to meet new expressway patterns.

The Chamber suggests that business men and other civic leaders meet with community officials to bring themselves up to date on new street and highway plans. Once this is done, civic groups should prepare to help guide local development of the new highway program along lines most likely to benefit all sectors of the community. Every step should be taken to see that the general public is kept fully informed on progress of street and highway plans.

Obviously, united action by all groups affected is the best way to cope with the variety of problems certain to arise as the highway program gets underway, the Chamber points out.

Perhaps some of the ideas proposed by the Chamber are not applicable here. More than likely some additional problems will crop up on the local level. The idea is sound, however, and the quicker leaders move to meet the changing picture, the easier it will be to make the adjustments when the occasion demands.

George Sokolsky Says...

Conventions Proved Television Coverage Is No Substitute For Newspaper, Magazine

Television came of age, to use an expression, during the 1936 conventions, in the sense that the television networks made an authentic effort to cover news as news. The difficulty, of course, is a divergent interference which only too often makes a continuous, uninterrupted narrative impossible.

Newspapers also publish advertisements but they are not printed over news stories nor do they come in the middle of an account of an episode. It is impossible for television quite to separate its news coverage from its advertisements which now appear in the form of entertainment, including cartoons, comedians and female announcers.

This is a technical problem which may never be solved because the cost of television is enormous and the person who listens and looks pays nothing for the service. His only expenditure is to buy a television machine and the company that gives away the service does not necessarily benefit from the sale of the machine. In fact, only the Radio Corporation of America now sells machines and produces network television.

Television cannot replace the newspaper or the weekly magazine for another reason and that is that it moves so swiftly and its product is so evanescent that there can be no back reference to anything that appears on it.

For instance, one listens to a speech. An effort is made to give the entire speech on television, but the commentator feels called upon to interject a word of explanation here and there. It is not like a headline or a sub-head; it is interference. Perhaps the eye has become accustomed to the headline but the ear is still startled when a new, strange and even discordant sound asserts itself.

What we are looking at is not a permanent record, but a dramatic performance. Television is essentially of the theater, not of the press. The commentators are essentially actors, not newspapermen. They are controlled by directors who are theatrically trained and whose job it is to put on a good show so that the advertisers will be satisfied. The advertisers pay the bill.

Even old-fashioned newspapermen who find themselves involved in television become conscious of histrionics. Some of them actually permit the hidden hand that is in so many of us to come to the surface. It is amusing but not too instructive.

Both conventions were too television-conscious, but at San Francisco there was more play-acting than at Chicago. Two old actors, George Murphy and Robert Montgomery, managed the theatricals at San Francisco and both were too conspicuous for the parts they played. Promoters are best kept out of sight. Perhaps at future conventions, the shows will open with credit lines, so that maybe an Oscar could be claimed by the actors, directors and writers of the show, but that would not make the convention a deliberate

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

As contended by this corner right along, the telecast of the political conventions, as shown by a national poll, had far fewer listeners than expected. The first poll to be reported indicated that millions of TV fans had taken to the hills during both sessions, many in resentment at interference with their regular programs. And why not? The performances of large groups of politicians in various stages of obesity, and no show business training, are no entertainment worth bargain. Any TV show gets lost when on a two weeks show nobody slides into second base, argues with an umpire, does a good monologue, clears up a whodunit mystery, aids the cause of love and romance or demonstrates the preparation of a Welsh rarebit. (And when not a cash prize is offered during the first 24 hours, the tuning-out is tremendous.)

It is obvious, say we, that few living rooms in America rate Sam Rayburn over Jackie Gleason or would rather watch Joe Martin than Art Carney. Lump all the keynotes and gavel pounders together and we will take Burns & Allen, Ozzie & Harriet or "Death Valley Days."

In our book, except for the few really important moments, any political conventions falls somewhere between "Zoo Parade" and "Omnibus." The long-winded speech went out of style years ago and should be used on video only, as the early movies were used, to chase out the vaudeville audience. It is doubtful if the Democrats could have scored a TV hit even if Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver had done two scenes from Sergeant Bilko. And the GOP sessions would have had trouble even if Joe Smith had turned out to be Steven Allen. As a matter of fact, instead of snuffing out the Joe Smith interlude, Chairman Martin should have let Joe in and put on Smith & Dale as an added TV attraction. Admittedly the television industry did a public duty and did it well, too well

Subtle Reminder

Fairly Spoken By MARGARET LATROBE Heavy Pastoral Work Is Cracking Strain

"Come unto me, all ye that are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." Because churchgoers have heard this Bible quotation so often from their pastor's lips, they mistakenly assume the minister will personally shoulder their burdens.

Burdens they have, in plenty. And in increasing throngs people turn to their pastors for guidance. A very natural response. The trouble is that although congregations are multiplying, pastors are not. With the great and good works being done by our churches, great harm is being done our men of God. Some of them simply cannot stand up to the administrative work of house committees, choir rehearsals, building programs, fund raising, sick calls, new member calls, weddings, funerals, Sunday School, young people's work, community work, speeches for every conceivable occasion, study groups, dinner meetings, prayer meetings. And seeing that the youngsters have a good time playing ping-pong on Youth Night.

When does a man write a sermon? When does a preacher have time for his own family? If he speaks of faith, will not that faith sustain him, restore him and save him from the worries and exhaustion of other "administrators"? Surely a man of the cloth should never fall heir to the ills and troubles of his flock. He must be accessible to those in trouble, helpful to those in need, a comfort to those in sorrow. "And would you believe it, when I phoned his office he wasn't even there?"

The office of the Presidency of the United States has certain similarities to that of pastor of a large congregation. The leader must never tire, never fail. His words must be chosen well, but have an easy spontaneous quality. The President is permitted—by virtue of such high office—a little fishing or golf or bridge. He is protected from trifling personal fretting of friends. He is urged to delegate others for specific jobs.

But the bedeviled person must be open to all corners, gallant to old ladies, gay with the very young, watching his step with pretty ones, soothing belligerent parishioners, listening with the same ear to minor and major calamities—and giving the church board restful progress reports.

Some of these good men are cracking under the strain, according to a recent magazine article by the Reverend Wesley Shrader. Maybe it's because we need to look at our Good Book quotation again. Maybe our benediction might allay the ear-bending we inflict on the padre. "Go, Reverend. I'd gladly help you... but I don't have the time. You have all week to write one little sermon, while I..."

N.Y. Confidential —By Lee Mortimer

Britannia Rules The Waves (Or Does It?): British plenty worried about the seaworthiness of the Royal Yacht Britannia, carrying Princess Margaret to E. Africa and the Duke of Edinburgh to Australia (and where is the Queen?). The royal craft, only two years old and costing $6,000,000 (of our money, probably), has been a hoodoo ever since its launching. Sailors call her "The Rock 'N' Roll," must be drafted to serve as flunkies on the pleasure craft.

Another From Adams (Jay that is): The comical comedian writes as follows: Here we are in Turkey. We started out for Grossingers, but must have made a wrong turn some place. Turkey is famous for Atatürk who put it on its feet and Neja Ates. As far as the food is concerned in Turkey, next Thanksgiving I'm eating liverwurst. Even the Halvah is out of season now. The only thing you can get good is dysentery. There's a tremendous shortage of water in Ankara and everyone looks it, including us. Lots of poverty here, mainly among the laundries. Soap is at such a premium, you can only buy it in banks. I started at a heap of wet-wash parked on a curb. Suddenly the wet-wash got up and walked away. Talk to a girl here and you can be put in the pokey. Touching one you get 20 years.

Something for Everyone From Everywhere (Also Nowhere): Neja Ates, (see above) parlayed her Hiss-Ciro's engagement into four weeks and to wangle an extension from "Fanny" she had to agree to go with that show on the road... Walter Brooks, brilliant step-son of Gen. MacArthur, claims that the proposed Federal Advisory Comm. on the arts is a subterfuge to foist more Reds on the American theatre. (We've got enough now, thank you.) Want to see the prettiest babes in town? That's at Harold Frimkin's Traveler's Hotel at LaGuardia where the stunning airline stewardesses relax between flights... My New York Publicists Told How To Succeed

New York—Things one New Yorker thinks about: It's seldom that a journalist (ah, there!) has the opportunity to discover the many ways in which he has been suckered, but in the current The American Salesman, Manhattan press agent Dick Falk (who once claimed ownership of the Falkland Islands and more recently registered a trained flea at the Waldorf-Astoria) lists 10 ways in which P. A.'s get their clients' names in the news. I have been blushing sheepishly ever since, noting the many gimmicks for which I have fallen.

Falk's top news-getter is to have his client forget his/her jewels in a taxicab and then claim robbery. Works every time. He also is fond of sending the President some big, unusual gift, and he lists the old reliable of giving away money on a street corner. "Make a list of the 10 best anything," is another angle that seldom fails, and Falk has found picture editors amenable to photos showing bikini-clad models displaying a commercial product on a winter day. Candidly, he adds that "publicity must be 25 per cent real news." In feeble defense of newsmen, I would like to point out sometimes—not always, mind you—we are aware that our leg is being pulled, but are so impressed by the ingenuity or drollery of the P. A., that we go along with the gag just for laughs.

Miss Silvana Mangano, who now is virtually an elder stateswoman amid the throng of undulating Italian actresses who have come to America, is in town—and if I may say so, a little ill-advised. She arrived without a patch of make-up on her face, saying in effect that it bored her to paste on the cosmetics. The only actress I've seen who could get away without help is Bergman. Signorina Mangano is not Bergman... Reeves Leventhal, who runs the Associated American Artists galleries in Fifth avenue and is the man who put the paintings of Winston Churchill on Christmas cards, has a title that may well end all titles. France made him a Chevalier of Les Chevaliers de la Croix de Lorraine Et Compagnons de la Resistance. That may get him a cup of coffee without the dime.

Victor Mucati, who heads the Society for the Advancement of the Toothpaste Tube, writes me that his group is offering $5,000 to anyone who creates a "captive cap" that cannot be lost. LABORER WORTHY OF HIS HIGHER

Inside Washington

Herter To Get Reward For Support Of Nixon

Washington—There is speculation that because of his willingness to sideline himself in the "dump-Nixon" dispute at the Republican convention, Massachusetts Gov. Christian Herter is in line for a top administrative office if he is re-elected.

Should Mr. Eisenhower win a second term, there is a strong possibility that Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover, Jr., may bow out. Herter is an odds-on favorite to get the post and, in the unlikely event that John Foster Dulles should resign, the Massachusetts Republican might move up to Cabinet rank.

Herter has always taken a strong interest in foreign affairs and would like nothing better than to take on a top assignment in the State department under Mr. Eisenhower. His unqualified support of Vice President Richard M. Nixon for re-nomination may make this wish come true.

However, who rose to diplomatic prominence because of his successful handling of the settlement of the Iranian oil dispute in the early days of the Eisenhower administration, is presently under a shadow in the department as a result of being an early supporter of Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser, presently a thorn in the side of the United States.

Tax Cut—Proposals for a tax cut are practically certain to come up at the next Congress, regardless of the outcome of the November elections.

The reason is that government revenue through taxes is way up because of the high economic activity, which means high individual and corporate incomes.

The "modest" budget surplus which President Eisenhower predicted last January for the current fiscal year is swelling and could easily go to two billion dollars or more.

If the surplus is much above the two billion mark, the tax reduction drive is sure to be on in force when Congress returns next January.

The only difference between the Republicans and Democrats on the issue will be the form it should take.

The Republicans may want to spread it around a little more between individuals and corporations instead of giving it all to the wage earner through a boost in the individual income tax exemption.

Farmers' Friend—It's shaping up as a battle royal in the midwestern farm states this fall when Democratic vice presidential candidate Estes Kefauver and Republican Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson vie for agricultural votes in a no-holds-barred contest.

GOP strategists recognize the tall, lanky Tennesseean as one of the best vote getters the Democrats have and realize they will have to go far to counteract his engaging down-to-earth personality.

But they hope that Benson, with a working soil bank behind him, will be able to carry the day. The Agriculture department plans to start passing out checks for the acreage reserve about Labor Day, plenty of time for farmers to realize who is putting money in their pockets before election day.

There's every indication that farm income and prices will stay fairly stable or rise between now and November, another arguing point for the administration spokesmen in the farm areas.

The Democrats, of course, will campaign on the basis of their high rigid price support program and count on farmers' resentment of past and present GOP policies to carry the party to victory.

Noise Tamers—The Army is taking steps to tame the deafening noise of its low-flying helicopters—and to boost their power at the same time. Engineers will refit two standard H-21C "Workhorses" helicopters with pairs of new gas turbine engines to replace the conventional piston motors.

The change will reduce one of the strongest objections to the versatile eggbeaters—the roar like a fleet of speedboats rounding a turn—that can shake rafters in residential sections.

At the same time, the new engines, which may some day be standard equipment in the family car, will make the 17-place helicopters safer and more reliable.

The project also marks a step forward in inter-service cooperation. The entire conversion project is actually being administered by the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics.

Almost everybody knows today that "blue chip" stocks have led the stock market, sometimes doubling and even tripling in value in the course of a decade. "Blue chips," in the words of a banker, "are shares of ownership in an enterprise known nationally... for its ability to make money and pay a conservative dividend in good times and bad."

But what about "blue chips" so eagerly sought that their market price soars beyond all reason? Then a blue chip, points out Broker Jacques Coe, might be defined as "a favorite of the investment trusts that sells so high and yields so little it is not worth buying now."

Investors might do well to bear always in mind Billionaire Baron Rothschild's formula for amassing wealth: "I always made it a rule to buy a little too late, and sell a little too soon."

Billion And Half Seen As State's Road Share

(The Road part of the Interstate series goes into the cost of the system and how much money has been set aside for construction in Pennsylvania. It also lists the specific standards adopted for use on the new superhighway network.)

By Dick Hoeng
HARRISBURG, Aug. 31, (AP)— Pennsylvania's share in the $25 billion Interstate highway system probably will exceed 1½ billion dollars, a federal road official estimated today.

John L. Stinson, Pennsylvania district engineer of the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads, said he believes the state may receive over the next 13 years about double the original $800 to 900 million dollar estimated cost of construction within Pennsylvania.

"Let me minimize any figures on aid at this time," he said. "Because of the re-evaluation necessary in 1958." He added: "Very obviously Pennsylvania was terribly underestimated in setting up the figures to start with and I really expect that the cost we will probably have in Pennsylvania is going to be double the estimate."

800-900 Million
The State Highways Department, he said, originally figured the cost of the freeway arteries in the Keystone state at $800 to 900 million dollars.

But Stinson pointed out this estimate "was not on the basis of the present (limited access) standards now being considered and did include such salvage roads as the administration at that time felt could be improved to meet what it thought would be acceptable conditions."

Object of the 4,000 mile national superhighway network is to modernize America's roads originally built for the 20-horsepower Model T but now being used by 300-horsepower super engines.

To date Pennsylvania has been allocated $252 million dollars in federal money for interstate work through the fiscal year ending June 30, 1959. Additional grants for the entire nation are to be figured by Congress after January, 1958, when it receives a report from the Bureau estimating the cost of completing the system in each state. The additional allocations will be based upon the ratio of the cost for completion in each state compared with the cost of completing the entire system.

25 Billions Apportioned

The 1954 Federal-Aid highway and Revenue Act set aside $25,000,000,000 to be apportioned to the states for construction of the interstate network. The first appropriation for 1957 and the last for 1969, is one million dollars. For the years 1960 through 1967 the figure is $2,200,000,000 annually.

State allocations for the first three years have been computed on this formula: two-thirds on the ratio of the state's population to the country's population; one-sixth on the area of the state compared to the country's area; and one-sixth on the state's road mileage to the total national road mileage.

Pennsylvania's 252 million dollar share for three years is about 5 per cent of the total 4.7 billion appropriation for the period. Based on the 90-10 federal state ratio it means that the state will put up 28 million dollars during the three years.

Including 9 million dollars previously allocated for interstate work in 1957 under old laws, a grand total of 289 million dollars will be spent in Pennsylvania during the coming three years to build the new freeway system alone.

The Pennsylvania breakdown on the first three years allocated under the 1956 law: 1957—$32,608,531; 1958—$51,134,502; and 1959—$167,200,000. These are highways department and bureau figures.

Standards Approved

All this money will produce a new road system different from any existing today. The limited access principle is only one of the major standards adopted July 12 by the states and approved by the U.S. secretary of commerce and bureau of Roads commissioner for interstate construction. They were compiled by the American Assn. of State Highway Officials.

The new law stipulates that all state-federal agreements must contain a "clause providing that the state will not permit automotive service stations or other commercial establishments for serving motor vehicle users to be constructed or located on the right-of-way of the Interstate system." A person wishing private access to an interstate road would have to try to obtain approval of both the state highways department and the U.S. commerce secretary.

System roads will be designed—super elevation, curves, grade and sight distances—for speeds of 60-70 miles an hour although the federal government will fix no speed limit.

The roads will be surfaced with "every kind of high type material." The only signs permitted are distinctive route designation markers and warning, informational and directional signs.

Only 6,800 miles of the system will be two-lane road and these will be located in some mountainous sections or on very flat country and only if the expected 1967 traffic load will be under 5,000 vehicles daily and more lanes can be added. Most of the roadway will be 4, 6 or 8 lanes wide.

Overpasses Required
All intersecting roads will cross by way of under or overpasses and the only railroad crossings permitted at grade will be in sparsely settled areas where traffic is light.

Traffic lanes must be at least 12 feet wide. Most important of all, there will be a median divider of at least 35 feet in most cases between opposing roadways. In urban and mountainous sections a minimum of 16 feet will be permitted and under unusual terrain or right of way costs the median strip may be reduced to not less than four feet.

Each road will have a minimum right of way of 150 feet for two lanes in a rural area. The right of way will extend up to 300 feet for an eight lane highway while in urban areas the requirement is that it must be "sufficient."

All bridges on system roads will be the deck type with no overhead superstructure.

Stroudsburg High School Expects Record Enrollment

STROUDSBURG HIGH SCHOOL reopens at 9 a.m. Sept. 5 with the largest student enrollment in its history.

Principal Alfred Munson estimated yesterday that "more than 850" students will enroll on the first day. Last year's total had set the previous record at 800.

Munson said that all former students will return to last year's homerooms. Seventh grade students and all other new students report to the auditorium.

Bus Schedule
Bus routes and time schedules will be published in a separate article on Page 10. On the first day school runs from 9 a.m. to noon and from 12:45 p.m. to 3:24 p.m. with all classes meeting, supplies being distributed and study assignments being made.

After Wednesday, school begins each day at 8:30 a.m. with a lunch period running from noon to 12:40 and the day ending at 3:24 p.m. Overcrowding will present a definite problem this year at the high school, Munson said. Two and possibly three homeroom groups will be stationed in the auditorium, he said, and every other usable space, however small or unsuitable, will be pressed into service in each period of the day. There has been and will be no curtailment in curricular offerings at the school, however, officials said.

Boys Lost In Woods Overnight

BLAKESLEE—Two members of a Philadelphia high school football team wandered into woods near here and got lost Thursday night.

The boys—Ernest Orsatti, 16, and Richard Santo, 15—came back to Camp Acheala near Blakeslee yesterday morning, State police said.

Troopers were called in on the case after officials of the Bishop Neumann High School team found the boys were missing at 1 a.m. Friday. State police conducted a night-long search for Orsatti and Santo but could not find them.

Yesterday morning just as officials were preparing to widen their search and call in more help, the boys came back to the team's training camp, police said.

The boys told coaches they had gone for a walk in the woods, couldn't find their way back to the camp so they had spent the night in the forest, police reported.

Special Event Calendar Is Announced

The first Clearing House Calendar for the new club year has been announced by Mrs. Robert Hellman, chairman of the calendar, which was inaugurated last year as a public service by the Stroudsburg Woman's Club to provide organizations with information about forthcoming events scheduled by other organizations which might interfere with their own plans.

The calendar, which is available for use without charge by any group which wishes to reserve dates, is designed only for special events which need public support and a general audience. Regular meetings are not to be listed on this calendar but on the special birthday and meeting calendars sponsored by the Anna Logan Society for the benefit of the hospital.

Mrs. Hellman, in announcing the September calendar, pointed out that its usefulness is increased to the extent that organizations use it to avoid conflicts in their special events. Information for or about the calendar may be obtained from Mrs. Hellman, whose telephone number is Stroudsburg 4149. She will list special events for any of the winter months, and release the information to the newspaper on the first of each month.

Now in September

In September, for instance, she already has four special events listed.

Wednesday and Thursday, September 12 and 13, Pocono Garden Club Flower Show at firehouse in Tannersville.

Thursday, September 13, Y-Graduate Fashion Show at YMCA, 8 p.m.

Wednesday, September 19, U. S. Marine Band, sponsored by Exchange Club for the benefit of Youth Fund and General Fund, East Stroudsburg Junior High School.

Wednesday, September 26th, Northeast District, Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs at Penn Stroud 9:30 a.m., luncheon and until 3.

Advance notice of meetings in October include the opening luncheon of the Stroudsburg Woman's Club at the Penn Stroud at 1 p.m. scheduled for Monday, October 8; and the meeting of the Monroe County Federation of Women's Clubs at the Penn Stroud afternoon and night on Tuesday, October 23.

Hadassah Postponed

The Stroudsburg branch of Hadassah would ordinarily begin its year's meetings next Tuesday night but because of the religious holidays which begin Wednesday at sundown the meeting has been postponed one week. Further information about plans and program will be announced later.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Answering questions is part of the hazards of newspaper work. What's the score of the football game? What's the weather forecast for tomorrow? Can I have both a matron and a maid of honor at my wedding? Who is the Secretary of the Interior? What time does the concert begin?

But I had a new one yesterday: "Why isn't there a Woman's Exchange in the Stroudsburgs?" I don't know, do you? As I understand it Women's Exchanges flourish in many other places where women with time and talent on their hands turn in their hand-maintained whatever, their crocheted antimacassars, the knitted suits, or maybe the special nut bread they are famous for, and when they're sold, they get a portion of the money.

I remember that last winter—or was it the winter before—the Shawnee women tackled something similar in Worthington Hall, but I haven't heard a word about it recently.

One reason I can think of off-hand is that so many organizations have their seasonal bazaars, bake sales and apron socials that they use up the products of all the busy fingers. But then maybe they don't.

Anyway, it's something to inquire about. Maybe a Woman's Exchange is something we need in the Stroudsburgs. Seems as if we've got at least one of everything else, including the thrift shops sponsored by the Smithfield and Clearview PTAs, which vaguely run along the same lines.

There are, I presume, women with time on their hands who would like to put it to practical use but just at this moment it seems a little inconceivable. I'm squeezing the last drops out of every second of summer.

Homecoming Memories At Poplar Valley

Poplar Valley — Returning to the church of their childhood were many former members of the Poplar Valley Methodist Church at the homecoming services held last Sunday on the 20th anniversary of the first homecoming services at the church.

Rev. Robert E. Kiefer, who was pastor in August 16, 1936, was among those returning for the service this year. It was 20 years ago when he and the trustees decided to write to friends and members who had moved away from the section to return for a special service.

Rev. Robert Kiefer brought the morning message. Mrs. Kiefer was soloist, and there were songs by the Junior and Senior Chorus of the Cherry Valley Church, one of the sister churches in the five-church charge. There were about 150 friends and members present for the service.

About 125 stayed for the dinner in the social hall at 12:30 p.m., with fellowship and reminiscences saucing the food.

Guest speaker at the first homecoming 20 years before was Rev. Marland Shoemaker, who was again the speaker at the afternoon service. Rev. Shoemaker, now a chaplain in the U. S. Army with the rank of Major, drove from Washington, D. C. with Mrs. Shoemaker to conduct the service. The Pen Argyl Chorus sang. Memorials were read for members who have died since 1936 and friends of the church from the valley.

The history of the church, given at the morning service, was made more vivid by the presence of John Edinger, of Center St., East Stroudsburg. It was the father of Edinger, who is himself in his 90's, who helped to build the church more than 100 years ago and served as one of its first trustees. Another honored guest was Mrs. Oscar Metzgar, Stroudsburg RD, who is 85.

Coming the farthest were Rev. and Mrs. Shoemaker.

Rev. C. Clyde Levergood, pastor of the Cherry Valley Charge, was in charge of the services.

Catholic Women Leaders At Misericordia

The Scranton Diocesan Council of Catholic Women held a meeting at Misericordia College, Dallas, Pa., on August 29, under the patronage of the Most Rev. Jerome D. Hannan, D.D., Bishop of Scranton. Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, moderator of the council, was honorary chairman and Miss Anne Kulkin, council president, was general chairman.

Invited as consultants were Msgr. Thomas J. Cawley, editor-in-chief of the Catholic Light; Rev. M. F. Boylan, director of Wilkes-Barre Catholic Charities, and Rev. Cletus Dawson, St. Gabriel's Retreat House.

There were 76 women present. Officers of the Monroe-Pike Deanery and six chairmen were invited. Topics included cooperation with Christian Doctrine; cooperation with Catholic Charities; organization and development; family and parent education; public relations and spiritual development.

The meeting opened with sacrifice of the mass at 10 a.m. with a luncheon between the morning and afternoon sessions and a general assembly at 4 o'clock.

The purpose of the workshop was to decide upon a definite program for each of the six committees of the DCCW and to outline means and methods to achieve the aims of the committee program on the diocesan, deanery and parish levels.

Mix grated American brick cheese with well-drained chopped canned tomatoes, bits of anchovy fillets, salt, pepper, minced parsley and oregano. Spread on toasted buttered split English muffins and broil until bubbly. Serve at once.

Hausers Have Family Home For Anniversary

Delaware Water Gap — The 42nd wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George Hauser Sunday, August 26th, was a most happy occasion for them and their family as Mr. Hauser, who has been an invalid for over a year, was able to be up and go to the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. LaBar, for a picnic dinner.

To add to their happiness their son Donald and Mrs. Hauser had arrived from the Norfolk Navy Base for a weekend visit. Donald brought the news that he had been promoted from Chief Gunners Mate to Warrant Officer.

With their grandchildren, Linda LaBar and Peter LaBar, present the family group was complete save for a daughter, Lt. Sylvia Hauser, who is at a Navy Hospital in California. During the day the anniversary celebrants received a telephone call from Lt. Sylvia. Flowers and other gifts completed the day.

Monday, while W/O and Mrs. Donald Hauser were with Mr. George Hauser, Mrs. Hauser accompanied the LaBars to Sesside Heights for a day at the shore.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

United Press radio carried an interesting item the other morning about a gray haired, motherly looking woman who spent five years of her life in search of a drink that would be stimulating but not intoxicating, and another five years in marketing it to quality stores across the nation. The item interested me particularly, because the spiced tea which was the result of her prolonged research is the same distinguished Constant Comment tea which we sell here at Wyckoff's.

Just about a decade ago, Ruth Campbell Bigelow was a decorator married to an official in the dehydrated food business, and puzzled by the fact that more people did not drink tea. Having been reared in New England where tea is as essential to daily living as bread, Mrs. Bigelow was aware that some people perked up the flavor by adding bits of orange or spices to the brew. Since nothing of that type was on the market, Mrs. Bigelow decided that she would create and market such a tea.

Thousands of experimental tea-pots later, she conceived a tea so distinctive in flavor that everyone who sampled it was soon talking about it. Some liked it . . . some weren't sure . . . and some insisted upon using nothing else thereafter. The controversy resulted in the very apt name . . . "Constant Comment."

Mrs. Bigelow does not travel to buy her tea, but does taste every shipment, and her taste buds have become so experienced she can now tell with a sip on what plantation the particular leaves were raised. A fabulous, far-sighted person, she collects tea pots as a hobby, and has the triple distinction of being the only woman president in the multi-million dollar tea industry . . . the first woman to spice tea on a commercial scale . . . and the only professional woman tea-taster in the world. As might be expected, her favorite drink is TEA . . . AFTER noon, that is. Up until noon she drinks coffee.

Our Back to School promotion is gaining momentum as it enters its final week, and more and more salespeople are ringing the bell on our little red schoolhouse each night at closing time, indicating that they've achieved their day's quota. Maybe you haven't done your Back to School shopping yet . . . but time is shorter than you think. Just begin marking the days on the calendar, and you'll realize that "readin', writin', and 'rithmetic will all too soon replace sun, fun, and frolic.

This is the final day of our Keiper's hard candy sale, so do come in and take advantage of the ten cents a pound saving. When the sale began Thursday, all of our old, reliable Keiper customers were on hand to stock up . . . we also feel that Keiper made a best of new friends. Certainly the candies are delicious. There are, I believe, eight kinds in this big assortment, which is the ruling favorite of our Wyckoff hard candy line. During our three day promotion the sale price has been 69c, for the very same candy our customers are happy to buy regularly at 79c.

Sports Trail - -

By Whitney Martin

NEW YORK, Aug. 31 (AP)—It ain't necessary to be on a pennant winner to be chosen a league's most valuable player any more than marring the boss' daughter is a requisite to getting ahead, but it certainly isn't any handicap.

Which is why a half dozen or so National League players on three clubs have more than the normal, avid interest in their respective team's progress. The athlete who is hitched to a pennant winner has a much better chance of being named MVP.

AL Wrapped Up
The American League award is wrapped up. Mickey Mantle unquestionably will get it on the first ballot, if not by acclamation. Of course he won't rate it. All he'll do is lead his league in home runs, runs batted in, average and other miscellaneous departments. Just a bum.

But in the National League the Brooklyn Dodgers, Cincinnati Redlegs and Milwaukee Braves all have outstanding performers who certainly rate as candidates, and one of the players on the club that comes out on top will have the edge.

Newk Choice
Should the Dodgers win, it is a good guess that the choice would be Larry Doby, who already has won more than 20 games, although the erratic Duke Snider might have considerable backing. Snider leads the league in home runs and is in the top five in runs batted in.

The Redlegs who have been pretty much ignored as interest centered on the Dodgers and Braves, have a fellow who could win the double crown of rookie of the year and most valuable player if Cincinnati is in the World Series.

Frank Robinson
It's never been hit, this baseball version of the daily double, but Frank Robinson is the guy who might do it. He'd hit 34 home runs last time we looked, and has been showing all-around class.

Joe Black, Brooklyn's ace reliever 1 in 1952, nearly hogged the two honors. He got the rookie award and was edged out by Hank Sauer for MVP.

Robinson could have a little competition from teammates, Roy McMillan is one of the slickest shortstops in the business, and although he doesn't hit for an astronomical average he drives in runs.

He and Johnny Temple make a really slick second-base combination. And you can't forget the old reliable, Ted Kluszewski, who, after a slow start due to missing much of spring training because of an injury, has come strong and now sports an average of around .314, is at or near the top in runs batted in, and has about 33 home runs.

Braves' Aaron
The Braves certainly would enter Hank Aaron in the MVP sweepstakes, win or lose, with his chances naturally enhanced if Joe Adcock is bidding for the league batting championship. Joe Adcock has come through with 24 home runs, and recently a few of them have been very timely indeed.

And if the Braves want to confuse the issue a little they could put out a few bluffs for Bob Buhl and Lew Burdette, both heading for the 20-game winner mark.

Wide Open Field
So the field is wide open in the National League, although there is no predicting the whims of the voters, other than that they seem to favor a player on the pennant winner. In 1941 Ted Williams hit .406 and led his league in home runs with 37. Joe DiMaggio, with a .357 average, was named most valuable.

Newk Posts 22nd In 7-3 Brooklyn Win

NEW YORK, Aug. 31 (AP)—Brooklyn's pennant-leading Dodgers scored five runs on four walks, two errors and just two singles in the fourth inning tonight as Don Newcombe gained his 22nd victory with a 7-3 decision over the New York Giants.

The Giants, tagging Newk for home runs by Foster Castleman and Willie Mays, led 3-0 going into the fourth inning in which the Dodgers sent 10 men to the plate in a near-40 minute frolic.

Ref Laughs Off Charge Of Fight Bet

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 31 (AP)—Referee Abe Roth today laughed off a loosely thrown charge that he had a bet on the Art Aragon-Coco Andrade fight in which he awarded Aragon a ninth-round technical knockout two nights ago.

The veteran referee and Aragon are under temporary suspensions and appeared at a hearing before Jamie Smith, a member of the State Athletic Commission, to determine if formal charges of misconduct will be made.

Andrade Quote
Andrade as a witness this morning said he had remarked "in a moment of anger that Roth might have bet a bundle on the fight."

Smith, at the suggestion of Roth's brother, Attorney Lester A. Roth, directly asked the referee if he had bet on the fight.

"Not a biscuit. That or any other fight," Roth replied.

Tucker's Tops Twin City, Grabs 2nd Half MCSL Title

TUCKER'S CHEVROLET captured the second half pennant of the Monroe County Softball League last night, topping Twin City 5-2 in a special runoff at Stroudsburg Playground Field.

Charley Litt's bat and Gail Fegley's arm led Tucker's to victory. Litts banged out a homer and a triple to pace his mates attack, while Fegley set down the TV team with six hits in posting the mound triumph.

Twin City led for four innings, scoring two runs in the opening frame to offset Tucker's run in their half of the first.

In the fifth, however, Tucker's tallied four times to practically clinch the verdict.

Meet Nebel's
Tucker's now will meet Nebel's Market in a three-game series for the playoff crown. No date has been set yet for the opener.

'Drum' Majors Seen Key To Vols Success

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., (AP)—One of the chief reasons Tennessee's football prospects are brighter this fall than any season since 1952 is John (Drum) Majors, the Vols' talented tailback.

"You have to have a good tailback to operate the single wing successfully, and in Majors we've got a great one," says Coach Bowden Wyatt.

5th In Nation
A look at the record bears out Wyatt's words.

Majors was fifth in the nation in total offense in 1955 with 1,133 yards, 657 rushing and 476 on passes. He led Tennessee in scoring with 26 points and passed for five other touchdowns.

He handled the ball 248 times—one less than All-America halfback Howard (Hopalong) Cassady of Ohio State, the national leader in ball handling.

Southeastern Conference coaches named Johnny the most valuable player in the league; he also was picked on the all-conference team.

Bangor Coach Evans Pleased With Progress Of Grid Team

BANGOR—Bangor High School's football squad is entering their third week of practice with plenty of confidence and spirit. A lot of the spirit is probably generated by Coach Granville (Granny) Evans who has expressed delight with the progress the squad has been making.

Evans has said, "We're much better off than I ever thought we were going to be."

After two weeks of practice, the squad of foremost varsity candidates shapes up with a backfield complete with veterans from last year. This unit of J. L. Williams as quarterback; fleet-footed Glenn Heard and elusive Bobby Finelli at the halves; and Dale Miller, hard-hitting fullback appear to give the Maroon and White quite an offensive threat. All but Finelli, who will report next week at the start of school, have been working hard and long through extensive offensive drills.

Other Candidates
Other candidates pushing this quartet are Barry Reimer, sophomore with plenty of promise; Bobby Menhennit, another soph; and Ron DeNardo, a junior with backfield experience who has been alternating at offensive end position in an Evans experiment. Tommy Menhennit, another sophomore, has been showing much promise as a defensive stalwart in the backfield.

Evans reports, "If there is one concern we have, it may be the backfield depth."

Leading the line candidates is huge 230 lb. Charley Woolley, a veteran of two seasons campaigning at tackle and Bobby Butz, a guard letterman of last year. Leading a pack of candidates for the other guard position is scrappy Gene Trigiani, a junior. Others include Sherwood LaBar, Joe Martucci, and Gary Smith, all juniors. Smith, too, has been alternating at tackle. Junior Barry Moore and Sophs Bob Lakey and Mike Menecola head up the prospects vying for the tackle spot, opposite the veteran, Woolley.

Experiment
At center, Evans had made another experiment by shifting Frankie Butz, a sophomore and quarterback on last year's jayvee squad to that spot and having him back up the line on defense. Pat Levaris, a senior, who didn't see too much action last year is also vying for the pivot post.

The other concern of Evans is the wingposts. Thus far, DeNardo, Junior Gary Sanderson, and Soph Kenny Hase have been making the most successful bids. A veteran of last year who alternated between guard and end is Bobby Hill, a senior who will report at the start of school with another end prospect, Earl Walters, a sophomore who performed admirably with the jayvees last season.

Sorely missed and offensive stalwart at left end last year, indications are that Heard and defensive backfield veteran, Frankie Brown, will not return to action this fall. If that is true, it will leave two holes for Evans to fill. However, Evans and his coaching cohorts, Paul Wagner and David (Duke) Pritchard indicate that the job is not an insurmountable one. The sophomore candidates coming up have thus far have shown a lot of spirit and savvy and may prove to be more than equal to the task ahead — the ten-game schedule the Slayers have beginning with Palmerton on Sept. 22 and ending Nov. 22, with Pen Argyl.

Milwaukee Wins 1st Game 6-5

Close Games Mark Play By Chess Club

AT THE regular session of the Stroudsburg Chess Club Thursday night at the office of president, John M. Price, club champ Joseph Kushner and some of the aspirants for his crown featured some close contests.

A new serious contender, Louis Mondelle, of East Stroudsburg, took on the club star and engaged him for the entire first period of the night, the game resulting in a draw. However, in a second engagement, the champ proved too much for the contender.

Harold James, considered the leading contender for the championship, and Kushner staged a stubborn contest, employing many of the finer points of chess and the defender added a victory to his long list. In an even more strenuous game between these players, the result was long in doubt and ended in a draw.

Other Matches

Mondelle took on James and fought through to a draw. James also defeated A. J. Vlosak of Mount Pocono. Vlosak divided two games with Earl Weiss, another championship contender.

The members bade a reluctant farewell for the season to John Erickson, member of the high school faculty of Harpersville, N. Y., who leaves this week to resume his duties. The teacher won a tough engagement from William P. Deering but lost an even harder one to Earl Weiss.

Deering and Kushner, respectively, the oldest and youngest members of the club, played four games. Deering winning two, Kushner one and the fourth being a draw.

Price lost two matches to Erickson.

Gloria Vanderbilt Returns To Pocono Playhouse Monday

MOUNTAINHOME—"The Spa," a comedy by Edward Chodorov, based freely on a play by Ferenc Molnar, opens Monday night at the Pocono Playhouse.

It stars three well-known personalities—Gloria Vanderbilt, Turhan Bey and Violet Heming. The supporting cast is made up of accomplished players from Broadway.

The play is set in Austria-Hungary during the career, following early days prior to World War One. It deals with the story of a young princess closely-guarded in a Victorian surrounding who falls in love with a captain of the guard.

Here in 1954

For Miss Vanderbilt this will be the second visit to Mrs. Stevens' Playhouse—she made her debut in 1954 in Molnar's "The Swan." Since then she has appeared on television, made her New York debut at City Center in a revival of "The Time of Your Life" with Franchot Tone and has toured the Summer Circuit in "Picnic" by William Inge.

Turhan Bey rose to stardom in such movies as "Dragon Seed" with Katharine Hepburn and more than 50 others. He made his initial stage appearance in America in "The Second Man." Miss Heming is well-known in New York for her appearances in "Disraeli," "The Lie," "Three Faces East" and "Yes, My Darling Daughter."

Other members of the cast will be Vladimir Sokoloff, Dana Elcar, Paula Lawrence, G. Albert Smith, Jonathan Harris and Stephan Schnabel. Chodorov will direct his own script and the sets will be designed and executed by Ballou.

Buying Spree Continues

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—The public's pocketbook is filled with more cash to buy goods more than a year ago and the need for buying shows no letup, the Federal Reserve Board reported.

A board survey showed consumer income has risen in 1956 at a greater rate than buying, which also has been on the rise.

The result, the board said, is that the consumer has more cash to pay for his purchases, installment credit has eased off from its fast rising pace started in 1955 and repayment of such debt has increased.

Further, the board noted, manufacturing payrolls are on the upswing, having started to rise before the July steel settlement and having speeded up in many industries had negotiated pay raises ahead of the steel strike.

Also, adding to the cash available to consumers were increased jobs and earnings in non-manufacturing lines, a rise in farm wage rates and steadying of farmers' cash receipts, the board said in its monthly publication—the Federal Reserve Bulletin.

One Reason

The board said some of the rise in personal income to a record annual rate of 24 billion dollars in June stemmed from the increase in minimum wage rates last March from 75 cents to $1 an hour.

The annual rate of income was about 18 billion dollars greater than in June a year ago. Disposable income after taxes increased accordingly.

Nixon Flies To Bedside Of Ailing Father

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 (AP)—Vice President Nixon flew today to the bedside of his critically ill father in California after breaking off a seashore vacation in New Jersey.

The family physician in Whittier, Calif., reported this morning that Frank Nixon, 7-year-old father of the vice president, was "very weak" and "he cannot last too much longer." The elder Nixon was stricken last week with a ruptured abdominal artery.

Dr. I. N. Kraushaar said the elder Nixon still is conscious but is in great pain and had received oxygen most of the night.

Nixon, a study of concern, left National Airport this afternoon for Los Angeles and Whittier.

He told newsmen Mrs. Nixon did not at present plan to join him in California in the event his father dies.

Neither, Nixon said, would their two daughters go there. He said the children were "emotionally distressed" by their grandfather's illness when they were in California during the Republican convention last week.

Nixon said the prognosis of his father's illness "is not hopeful."

He said he plans to stay in California until Sept. 6 at least, when he is scheduled to address the American Legion Convention in Los Angeles.

Career Diplomat Named Envoy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 (AP)—Raymond A. Hare, veteran career diplomat with long experience in the Middle East, was sworn in today as the new U. S. ambassador to Egypt.

Secretary of State Dulles, speaking at a swearing in ceremony, called him a diplomat with "a high degree of competence" who has been assigned to a post of great importance because of his skill. Hare has been in the diplomatic service 29 years.

Hare, a 35-year-old native of Martinsburg, W. Va., previously served as ambassador to Saudi Arabia, Lebanon and Yemen.

Ban On Cameras May Be Relaxed

DALLAS, Aug. 31 (AP)—Richard P. Tinkham, chairman of the American Bar Assn.'s Public Relations Committee, today said the association next year may relax its stand against picture taking and radio-TV broadcasting in courtrooms.

Tinkham, in an interview, said a committee studying the problem is expected to recommend deletion from Canon 35 phrases that photography and broadcasting in courts tend to "distract the witness," and "degrade the court... And should not be permitted."

The canons are a statement of ethics of the legal profession.

Stocks Show Biggest Jump In Months

NEW YORK, Aug. 31 (AP)—The stock market snapped out of its August doldrums today with its biggest rally in 2½ months.

Aircrafts and steels were favorites as the market interrupted a string of four consecutive declines.

Gains of between 2 and 3 points a share were numerous, and some stocks rose well beyond that range.

Trading amounted to 1,620,000 shares, well below yesterday's 2,060,000 shares, but above the level in this week's other sessions.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $2.20 to $183.30. This matched the jump in the average on June 11 and was the biggest rise since a gain of $3.30 on May 29.

2.75 Billion Rise

Based on the average, today's rally added an estimated 2½ billion dollars to the quoted value of all stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The market thus recouped almost one-half of the loss it had absorbed in the first four days of the week.

Of 1,112 issues traded, 684 advanced, 199 declined and 229 closed unchanged. Twelve stocks reached new 1956 highs and 39 made new lows.

The industrial component of the A. P. average went up $3.70, rails $2 and utilities 30 cents.

Jones & Laughlin was the day's most active stock, up 2½ at 57½ on 24,200 shares. Boeing was next, up 1½ at 56½ on 22,100 shares.

The American Stock Exchange was higher with volume of 800,000 shares compared with yesterday's 920,000 shares.

U. S. government bonds were higher and corporate bonds held about even.

$1,250,000 Gift

OTTAWA, Aug. 31 (AP)—Canada is making a gift of 25,000 tons of wheat—625,000 bushels—to relieve a food shortage in Pakistan, Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson said today. The contribution is worth about $1,250,000, he told a news conference.

Girl Clerk Found Slain

NEW YORK, Aug. 31 (AP)—A woman who wore red ballet slippers and a purple dress was slain by a single knife thrust today in an apartment courtyard of New York's Bohemian Greenwich Village.

She was Pleiades Fieldgrove, 26, clerk for an iron pipe firm and a student of ballet. She had been stabbed in the chest.

There was no trace of her assailant, nor was the motive known. The woman's body was found in a sitting position at the foot of concrete steps in the rear of the building. Her pet slippers and a girdle lay beside her.

The victim was about 5 feet 5, with long brown hair and blue eyes.
